Ocean Beach Ball Club Open Season Sunday

The Ocean Beach ball club will play its first game of the winter season Sunday at Collier park when it meets Stratton's Plasterer's, another member of the newly formed County League. The game starts at 2:15 and there is no admission to the ball park.

The last season's run of the local club was a memorable one for they won some two dozen games straight in a row before going down to defeat.

Walsh of Toledo, Ohio, a former big leaguer, who is spending the winter here will start in the box for Ocean Beach and Harper, a crack Navy backstop, will be catcher. The old reliable and hard hitting Dick Chadwick will again be a valuable member of the team.

The Ocean Beach ball club is sponsored by Ocean Beach merchants and deserves the active support of all baseball fans.

JOIN FOOTBALL TEAM AT LA JOLLA TODAY

In what is probably their hardest game of the season, the Point Loma High school football team meet the La Jolla Vikings today, 3 o'clock, on the La Jolla field. The Vikings are at present leading the Metropolitan league, and will be favored to win today's encounter; however, the Pointers may spring an upset and bring home the victory as they did at Grossmont.

Ocean Beach and Point Loma fans, parents and students, should, if possible, go to La Jolla and cheer for the Lomans. LET'S GO!!

DAMAGE DONE HALLOWE'EN SHOULD BE PAID FOR

Ocean Beach school authorities, especially L. E. Chappelle, janitor, are thankful to the school children and other youngsters who were out playing pranks Hallowe'en night, that they passed up the school this year. "Did not even soap a window", says Mr. Chappelle "and that is the first time in the eleven years I have been here that they have not played hob on the school grounds, sometimes doing considerable damage."

For a time we thought there had been no real damage done, with the most serious offense turning on of fire hydrants, and making a lot of runs for the firemen, to turn them off, however, the first of the week it was called to our attention, that a number of windows in the dance hall at foot of Newport avenue, had been the target of boy vandals, who had broken several of the large plate glass windows on the ocean side of the building, and also a number of smaller ones in the doors. The city detective bureau should be notified of this damage to the building, in amount of $100 or more, so they might trace down the miscreants and have either they or their parents stand good for the loss, which only leads to more deviltry by the same gang if allowed to continue.

Legion Invitation To Join Armistice Parade

The American Legion Armistice Day committee cordially invites the Veterans of all wars, the armed forces of the United States with their reserves, all veteran organizations and patriotic groups, to join with them in the observance of the seventeenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice.

The parade will form at the foot of Broadway at 11:45 a. m., moving off at noon for the Stadium, where it will be reviewed. A football game between the U. S. Navy Submarines and the San Diego Town Team will follow at about 2 p. m.

Newcomer Complains About Weeds

Ocean Beach, California
October 31, 1935

H. H. Hartvigsen
Editor Ocean Beach News
Dear Sir:—

The other day I saw this town from an auto and was astounded to see weeds grown to such proportions that pedestrians were obliged to walk single file where pavements were of regulation width.

Look at the corner at Santa Monica avenue where people sit to wait for cars.

In the spring time I thought there would be a general clean-up for the Fair visitors but not even the business section was cleaned up.

I do not show my friends about here—the weeds make it so dirty—I take them to San Diego, furthermore, I consider them a fire hazard—and they certainly make it hard for those who would like a weedless lawn and garden.

As the city claims a weed tax why is'nt the money used for that purpose? I wish by way of your nice paper, you would call the attention of the City Fathers to the state of things existing here, for I would like to spend my declining years in this lovely place—

Very sincerely
A new Comer.
Pro bono publico.

BURROWS HAS CONTRACT FOR NEW HOME ON GUIZOT

P. M. Burrows this week received the contract from H. J. Goodwin to build a frame-stucco cottage and garage at 1441 Froude street, to cost in neighborhood of $2,000.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

Next Monday evening, November 11th, even though Armistice day, the directors of Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce will hold their regular monthly meeting at the Woman's clubhouse.

All members are urged to be present if possible and other citizens will be welcome.

Five Day Program Ocean Beach School

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK
November 11-15

Parents and others interested in the schools are cordially invited to visit Ocean Beach school during the week nationally known as American Education week. The general theme for the week is "The School and Democracy".

Regular classroom work may be observed anytime during the week. Three special programs have been planned which center around ordinary school activities.

1. Tuesday, November 12 at 2 p. m. Mr. Tompkins will talk in costume on Indians and their language, for the lower grades. At 2:30 p. m. he will talk on the same topic to the older children. Parents are welcome to attend the lecture, the first of a series to be given for all children in the school.

2. Wednesday, November 13 at 7 p. m. the school is having an open house so that fathers may have an opportunity to visit classrooms and see the work of their children. At 8 p. m. a bugle will call all visitors to the auditorium where a talk on the social studies program in the schools will be given by the new principal, Miss Martha T. Farnum at a PTA meeting. This subject was selected to contribute to the theme of the PTA for the year, "What the School Means to You". All parents are urged and expected to attend whether they are members of the PTA or not An exhibit of the beautiful work done at the curriculum project will be displayed in the auditorium. This work on the local setting has been prepared to circulate in the classrooms of the schools to help children visualize subjects studied.

3. Thursday afternoon, November 14 at 2 p. m. Miss Van Horn's second grade invites parents to see their circus play. Every child in the room has a part in the culmination of their circus activity which draws from many instruction periods of the day: music, art, language and stunts from physical education.

4. Friday afternoon, November 15 at 2 p. m. Miss Shea's reading group will give a program in the auditorium for parents. The main feature of their entertainment will be playing Shakespearian roles inspired by excursions to the Old Globe theatre.

WATERFRONT ACTIVITIES

The boys and girls of Miss Figgins H5, L6 grade had the opportunity Thursday of taking an excursion which included two particularly interesting features of the water front, viz., the star of India and the warehouses and docks of Pier one.

Accompanied by a guide the class was first taken aboard the museum ship "Star of India". After three quarters of an hour of exploring the old ship the class went to the waterfront where the children saw the municipal storehouse which contains many imports, and the unloading of a freighter.

The children returned to their classroom filled with a new interest in San Diego's harbor development and its effect on the people of the city. They had an experience that contributed to a very lively discussion of shipping "now" and "then" and the contrast of a modern and old time ship.

PANTOMINE BY SAFETIES

School safeties gave a pantomime play on Thursday October 31 in the school auditorium to impress certain playground hazards upon the students.

Leading characters were the clown, Carelessness, played by Carl Yoshimine; Harm by Alan Daun, and the First Aid Nurse by Dorothy Herz.

Groups of children playing marbles, jacks, jump rope, cleaning up the school grounds, and in line for a drink of water, were lead into mischief by the clown, Carelessness, who always seemed surprised at the presence of Harm on the scene.

Two talks on Hallowe'en fun were given at the assembly: one by Bob Peck in Miss McCabe's room, the other by Martin Frieze in Miss Shea's room.

STUDYING ZOO LIFE

The low second grade children are beginning a study of Zoo life and Zoo animals following their circus visit.

Last week they had an interesting trip thru the San Diego Zoo. Many interesting animals were viewed and discussed. The trip was made possible thru the courtesy of parents who furnished cars and accompanied the children. They were: Mrs. Williams Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Earley, Mrs. Welsh, Mrs. Mellon and Mrs. Boxberger.

CIVIC LEAGUE ELECTION

The 5Bs and 4As of Miss McCabe's room held an election of officers at the Civic league meeting last Friday. The meeting was called to order by acting-president Rita Quinn. The following were elected: president, Edward Klosterman; vice-president, Wayne Bailey; secretary, Bob Peck; housekeeper, Stanley Sanders; banking monitor, Laurie Hart; program chairman, Joseph Mehling; and messenger, Bonnadale Collier.

KIWANIS INTERNATIONAL

HUMANE SOCIETY SECRETARY TELLS ABOUT THEIR WORK

Dr. Frank R. Felt was chairman of the day at Wednesday's Kiwanis luncheon with Rev. Joseph S. Fox, executive secretary of the San Diego Humane Society as speaker on an interesting talk of the organization of the society more than fifty years ago. The speaker told of the number of animals received and placed each month as well as the care for children who were being mistreated in their homes. He said their creed was to be kind and gentle to helpless creatures and teach others to do the same. Their special work was prevention of cruelty to children and animals. Dumb animals he said set many good examples in their good qualities and that they do not have bad qualities which afflict the human race. He believed if people and nations would really be humane that war and other problems would be solved. Specific instances were cited where the society had stepped in to defend helpless ones but in some cases it was difficult to get proper support from the judiciary.

Scott Duncan of Ohio was a guest of I. J. Claspill.

POINT LOMA HIGH PTA CARD PARTY AT THURSDAY CLUB

A public card party will be given by Point Loma high school PTA Wednesday, evening November 20th at the Thursday club, Sunset Cliffs, and all the local people who care to play are urged to attend and get acquainted with the high school PTA which is doing a splendid work for the Point Loma High school.

Reservations for Ocean Beach folks will be taken at the Ocean Beach News office, phone BV-0741.

OCEAN BEACH BOXER WINS FOURTEEN MATCHES

Frenchy Ritter (148) Ocean Beach welterweight, Tuesday night knocked out Jimmy Meadows (151) of Los Angeles in two minutes of the second round of the semi-windup at the Colesium. A left hook to the jaw settled the match. It was Ritter's 14th straight win.

FAIR WARNING!

Marjo Kock, comely San Diego miss, doesn't want a single Californian to miss the California Pacific International Exposition. She is seen with a giant calendar turned to November 11—the closing date of the world's fair, which more than 4,000,000 persons have visited to date.

Point Loma Stars Elect 1936 Officers

Monday evening Point Loma chapter O. E. S. together with husbands of members enjoyed an 8th anniversary dinner with about seventy persons served. Gladys Nelson was general chairman and the turkey dinner with all the trimmin's was a delectable repast.

Short after-dinner talks were made by past matrons and past patrons, as well as charter members.

The regular meeting of the chapter followed the dinner and was presided over by Edythe Kenline, worthy matron and Harry P. Sweet, worthy patron. Officers for 1936 were elected and the yearly reports of the secretary and treasurer read and approved.

Newly elected officers for the coming year are Gladys B. Nelson, worthy matron; Nels Berge, worthy patron; Hazel V. Lathrop, associate matron; Wm. F. Burnett, associate patron; Ella D. Cole, secretary; Arley B. Hastings, treasurer; Ruth I. Berndt, conductress; Coranna Burnett, associate conductress.

A detailed report of proceedings of the grand chapter at Coronado, October 15-18, was given by the worthy matron.

Mrs. Susan Reinfrank, junior matron, was down from Beverly Hills to enjoy the evening with her old friends.

CHEAP RATES OFFERED IN BUYING NEW AUTOS

Low cost borrowing is featured in Bank of America's new rates of automobile financing which are reported to be actually lower than the rate set by the Federal Housing Administration for modernization loans under the National Housing Act.

The announcement of the low-cost automobile plan a few weeks ago has resulted in many inquiries being made at the Ocean Beach branch, Bank of America. Already other financing institutions have had to lower their rates, which have been high, and the move of the bank to make these loans has been distinctly beneficial to the automobile buying public, which annually spends more than two hundred fifty million dollars for new and used cars, of which 55 per cent is financed thru installments.

With the new 1936 model automobiles on display, tentative purchasers who do not have the cash to settle for their cars when buying will do well to look up the advertisement in the Ocean Beach News of November 1st, outlining Bank of America's new finance plan, or consult with Rollin Reed, local bank manager.

Killebrews Ideal Market Opens Next Week

The new store building of Killebrew's Ideal Market on Voltaire St., near Bacon, is about completed and is now waiting the installation of some modern meat market and refrigerating equipment.

A big opening sale will be held in the new store November 14, 15 and 16, according to present plans.

10,000 VISITORS CELEBRATE AT RAMONA SATURDAY

While it rained in Ramona last Saturday and the weather man was unkind as to what kind of a day he furnished the back country folks for their Turkey Day celebration. nevertheless it was a very successful affair, there being entertainment galore on a peppy program right from the start of the 10 a. m. parade. It was estimated that 10.000 people were in attendance and while the rain ceased at noon it was still cold but the program was sufficiently interesting to hold the visitors until evening.

While at the Ramona event we saw among other Ocean Beach folks Mr. and Mrs. F. B. McElwee and son Frank. Carl Schroder, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Hastings and daughter Josephine, Mesdames Yancy Adams, Bessie Harrison and John Rankin.

Mrs. Palmer won a turkey on a lucky ticket at Collier park and Carl Schroder drew his eagle eye along the barrel of a .22 rifle, putting five shots in the bulls-eye and carried off a fine Mountain Brand turkey for his effort.

DREDGING HARBOR CHANNEL TO TAKE YEAR OR MORE

The Hydraulic Dredging Company is dredging and widening the main ship channel off North Island. The work will take from 12 to 14 months and will involve an expenditure of $1,200,000 which will be met by Federal funds.

President Raps Tugwell for Budget Prediction—WPA Job Program Moves Rapidly—Farmers Indorse Corn-Hog Control for 1936.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© Western Newspaper Union.

REXFORD G. TUGWELL, undersecretary of agriculture and once considered head man of the "brain trust," made a speech at Los Angeles the other day that called forth a sharp rebuke from President Roosevelt. Addressing a Democratic gathering, Tugwell asserted that the administration could satisfy every humanitarian demand and still balance the budget in 1938.

R. G. Tugwell

Mr. Roosevelt, in a press conference, scolded the newspapers for printing what he called "crazy stories" and went on to declare that Tugwell's assertion was almost as unfounded as the predictions thrown out by many political observers that the budget probably would never be balanced again. Tugwell's statement wasn't quite as "wild" as the newspaper stories, he remarked, because Tugwell knew a little more about the budget than the newspaper men.

The President said he and his advisers were about to make a study of the financial situation, and that until the budget is finally drafted about the first of the year not even he knows what shape it will take. Every effort, he said, would be made to hold the regular government departments down to the figures of this fiscal year, but he would make no predictions as to emergency expenditures.

JOBS for 3,500,000 needy persons by November 15, and an end of the dole by December 1. That was the forecast made by the New Dealers in Washington, and it appeared probable of accomplishment. Officials said states will receive no direct relief allotments from the government for December and that the November grants will be greatly reduced. The employment program is a month behind schedule, but is now being carried forward rapidly. Every state director of the PWA has been given a job goal by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and was told by that gentleman:

"The responsibility for carrying out these objectives, through providing work on approved projects, rests squarely on you."

As November opened these state administrators had $1,018,947,649 to spend, and every day Comptroller General McCarl was putting more to their credit in the federal treasury. Of the $3,330,843,803 tentatively approved in WPA project values by President Roosevelt, McCarl had passed $2,450,293,894. Of the $1,060,207,831 definitely allocated for WPA by the president, McCarl had countersigned treasury warrants for all but $41,260,182.

NEW DEALERS have scored a major victory, and are correspondingly elated. By a majority of something like 10 to 1, the corn-hog producers have voted for a continuance of the crop adjustment through another year. Incomplete returns from the referendum showed that the program was favored by a majority in every one of the 33 states from which votes were received.

Chester C. Davis

"It is only natural that we should be pleased with the apparent approval of adjustment given by corn and hog farmers," said Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, as he watched the returns come in at Washington. "If the final results bear out present indications another voluntary contract will be offered for both corn and hogs."

In a formal statement Davis emphasized earlier assurances that the AAA would seek a 25 to 30 per cent increase in hog production next year, saying the "need for increasing the present pork supply of the nation. . . will be kept in mind in plans for the next adjustment contract."

Before the results of the voting were known President Roosevelt announced tentative plans for making the AAA over from an emergency to a permanent agency. Observers in Washington concluded that Mr. Roosevelt intends to make the AAA a major campaign issue next year and to rely for re-election largely on the voters in those western states that have received the largest cash payments in the carrying out of the crop adjustment program—taking it for granted that he will carry the solid South.

CONTINUING the administration's policy of "enabling farmers to market their crop in a more orderly fashion," Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced a corn loan of 45 cents a bushel on the 1935 crop, available from December 1 until next July 1. The Commodity Credit corporation had already approved this and asked a commitment from the R. F. C. to provide the necessary funds.

Wallace estimated that about $150,000,000 would be advanced to corn growers under this program. Borrowers must sign the AAA corn-hog control contracts. The loans will be made on corn which, if shelled, would grade No. 3 or better. The grade requirement last year called for was No. 4. The loan rate then was 55 cents a bushel.

PREMIER MUSSOLINI defies the League of Nations and its sanctions. In a speech at the inauguration of the new university in Rome he said:

"In the face of an economic siege toward which all civilized people of the world should feel supreme shame, in the face of an experiment which they wanted to test, for the first time, against the Italian people, let it be said:

"We will oppose it with our most implacable resistance, with our most firm decision and with our most supreme contempt."

However, it was announced in Geneva that the duce was willing to negotiate for peace with Ethiopia, and there was a possibility the league would delay for 15 days the application of further penalties.

King Victor Emmanuel issued a decree putting the entire Italian merchant marine on a war basis.

Prime Minister Baldwin's reply to Mussolini's defiance was a blunt assertion that Great Britain was prepared to resort to force, if necessary, to carry out the sanctions. Said he: "We mean nothing to the league if we are not prepared in the end, and after grave and careful trial, to take action to enforce its judgments."

The British government made new protests to Italy against Italian press attacks on Britain and anti-British propaganda in Egypt, and three more destroyers were sent from Gibraltar to Malta.

WHILE the League of Nations was going forward with its plans for the imposition of sanctions against Italy, its officials asked the United States government to comment on this policy, for the attitude of this country is considered vital to the success of the program. Secretary of State Hull replied promptly but with extreme caution, avoiding comment on the action taken by the league powers and inferentially declining to cooperate in the sanctions. The answer, whose tenor was dictated by President Roosevelt, was sent to Minister Hugh Wilson at Berne. It only set forth the moves made by the United States under the neutrality act and restated our government's hope for world peace. In press conferences Mr. Hull stressed the fact that this country will continue to move independently to keep free and untangled as President Roosevelt has promised.

Secretary Hull

AMERICAN citizens are not respecting the embargo on shipments to Italy and Ethiopia to an extent that satisfies the administration. Therefore the President issued this statement:

"In dealing with the conflict between Ethiopia and Italy I have carried into effect the will and intent of the neutrality resolution recently enacted by congress. We have prohibited all shipments of arms, ammunition, and implements of war to the belligerent governments. By my public statement of October 5, which was emphasized by the secretary of state on October 10, we have warned American citizens against transactions of any character with either of the belligerent nations except at their own risk.

"This government is determined not to become involved in the controversy and is anxious for the restoration and maintenance of peace.

"However, in the course of war, tempting trade opportunities may be offered to our people to supply materials which would prolong the war. I do not believe that the American people will wish for abnormally increased profits that temporarily might be secured by greatly extending our trade in such materials; nor would they wish the struggles on the battlefield to be prolonged because of profits accruing to a comparatively small number of American citizens.

"Accordingly, the American government is keeping informed as to all shipments consigned for export to both belligerents."

Secretary of State Hull issued another statement calling upon American citizens to desist from trading with either Italy or Ethiopia. Such trade, he declared, was conducted "at the expense of human lives and human misery."

EARTHQUAKE tremors that were felt in many localities all the way from Spokane and Calgary to New York and Boston were severest in Helena, where at least two persons were killed and many injured. Numerous buildings weakened by the former temblors in the Montana capital were thrown down and the property losses were considerable.

CONSTITUTIONALITY of the Guffey coal act, a highly controversial measure, is to be passed on by the Supreme court. The way was opened when Justice Jesse Adkins of the District of Columbia Supreme court granted to the Carter Coal company a temporary injunction restraining government enforcement of the act.

In allowing the issuance of a temporary injunction, Justice Adkins denied another order which would have restrained the government from collecting the penalty prescribed by the act for noncompliance. He directed that the coal company post a bond of $1,500 a day for ten days to insure stockholders of the company against a loss through imposition of the penalty should the act be held constitutional.

Regardless of the District Supreme court's decision on the constitutionality of the act, the test case will be carried to the Supreme court for a final decision by the company or the government, attorneys said.

LIBERTY League's committee of 58 more or less eminent lawyers got into trouble by offering free legal services in anti-New Deal litigation. Someone protested to the American Bar association and that body's grievance committee has been asked for an opinion on the ethics of the offer. It was reported that the members of the league's committee had been cited for unethical practices, but the bar association denied this had yet been done.

THERE is no lack of potential candidates for the Republican Presidential nomination. The latest boom to be informally launched is for Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, often mentioned as a possibility. The other day there was a gathering in Topeka of party leaders, including members of the state committee, state office holders, congressmen and Senator Arthur Capper, and after some oratory they unanimously and enthusiastically indorsed the governor for the nomination. Landon had not indicated whether he would be a candidate. If he will, the movement will probably be given formal status at the annual Kansas day dinner in Topeka on January 29, the seventy-fifth anniversary of the state's admission to the Union.

TWO tragic airplane accidents marked the week in the United States. The huge Boeing bombing plane built for the army, largest land plane in the country, was being tested near Dayton, Ohio, when it fell and burst into flames. Maj. P. P. Hall, chief testing pilot, was killed and four others were injured. Lieuts. R. K. Giovannoli and L. F. Harman risked their lives to rescue those trapped in the wreck and were themselves painfully burned.

Another Boeing plane, re-built and undergoing tests by the United Air Lines, crashed against a small hill near Cheyenne and the four occupants were hurled to death.

HONDURAS suffered one of the worst floods in its history. Fully 115 deaths resulted, and the property damage is estimated at $12,000,000, half of it sustained by the United Fruit company. Reports of the disaster reaching Tegucigalpa were meager and vague, and the mortality list may be greatly increased later.

WANG CHING-WEI, premier of China, and two other officials were wounded by an assassin in Nanking. Martial law was declared there immediately. The Rengo (Japanese) News agency, crediting Chinese sources, said the assassin was a member of the central executive committee of the Kuomintang (ruling Chinese party). Chinese sources asserted he was a citizen of a foreign power. The Reuters (British) News agency reported Wang's assailant was a Japanese newspaper man.

POLITICAL gossip in Washington is that Senator Vic Donahey of Ohio may be invited by the administration to be the Democratic candidate for Vice President next year. Mr. Garner, of course, can have a re-nomination if he reallly wants it, but there is some reason to believe that he would prefer to retire to private life after nearly forty years of public service. Donahey's impressive victory over Simeon Fess in 1932 and his well known vote-getting ability lead some prominent Democrats to think it would be wise to put him on the ticket as Mr. Roosevelt's running mate.

JIMMY WALKER, former mayor of New York, has ended his three years of self-imposed exile and returned to the metropolis. Tammany Hall, which "made" him politically, took no part in the welcome accorded him, but enough others joined in the affair to fill seven or eight boats that met the liner Manhattan at quarantine. These included delegations from the Friars club, the Lambs club and the Grand Street Boys' association of which Jimmy was vice president. At the docks there was a tremendous throng to greet Walker and his wife, the former Betty Compton.

BELATED reports told of the terrific hurricane that swept across the southern peninsula of Haiti and that was followed by devastating floods. There was no way of estimating the number of fatalities, but they were believed to be as many as two thousand. Entire populations of many valley villages were wiped out.

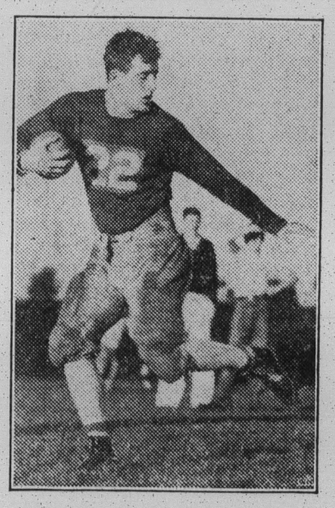
NEW YEAR'S DAY THEME CHOSEN

"History in Flowers," a floral presentation of history, around which Pasadena's world famed New Year Day's parade will be built, is announced by the huge floral scroll shown above. Scores of floats from all sections of California will take part in the picturesque pageant. Miss Kay West is pictured here as Betsy Ross, Morgan West as the Viking and Vernon Leif as the padre.

FARM PROBLEMS WILL BE AIRED

The eyes of agricultural America will be focused on Sacramento, November 11-21, during overlapping conventions of the State and National Grange, farm organizations with close to 1,000,000 active members. Between 5,000 and 10,000 will attend the sessions, at which administration farm policies, taxes and other problems will be discussed. Above photo shows National Grangemaster Louis J. Taber, left, and State Grangemaster George Sehlmeyer who will be host.

Stanford Streak



Here is Bobby Grayson, the Indians' great all-Amercian quarterback, who will carry the ball Saturday when Stanford tangles with the Trojans at Los Angeles. Critics agree that Grayson is a much improved player over last year, despite slight injuries.

Automobile tourists entering California from other states during September numbered 84,812—a gain of 13,345, or 18.7 per cent, over last year. This is the 25th consecutive month to show a gain in this travel over the corresponding month of the year before.

Taps For Exposition

When San Diego's California Pacific International Exposition closes on midnight November 11, Joe Galli, 30th U. S. Infantry, will play taps on top of the California tower. Galli won the honor in competition with other army buglers.

All referendum ballots on the AAA's proposed marketing agreement for olives have been marked and mailed.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Be Sure They Properly Cleanse the Blood

YOUR kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as nature intended—fail to remove impurities that poison the system when retained.

Then you may suffer nagging backache, dizziness, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, puffiness under the eyes; feel nervous, miserable—all upset.

Don't delay? Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. They are recommended by grateful users the country over. Get them from any druggist.

PIMIENTO AND PIMENTO

Pimiento (pronounced pim-yen-toe, accent on next to last syllable) is a Spanish sweet pepper that is used chiefly for stuffing olives, seasoning cheeses and in making salads. It is popularly, but erroneously, spelled "pimento." But pimento (pronounced as spelled, with next to last syllable accented) is allspice, the dried aromatic berries of a West Indian tree. The volatile oil of the pimento is used in cookery, in medical preparations and in perfumes.

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

The Trouble

When a man is in love he says what he thinks—and more.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people 'round 40 think they're "growing old." They feel tired a lot . . . "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

"Jungle Traveler" Is Craft of New Type

ONE of the strangest amphibians ever seen was given its final tests recently on Manhasset bay, at King's Point, Long Island. It is called the "Jungle Traveler" and will be sent to South America for use in exploring. It weighs two tons and has a speed of 15 miles an hour on land and eight miles on water.

HOW PADDY WARNED LIGHTFOOT

IT WAS a queer partnership, that partnership between Lightfoot and Paddy, but it was a good partnership. They had been the best of friends for a long time. Paddy had always been glad to have Lightfoot visit his pond. To tell the truth, he was rather fond of handsome Lightfoot. You know, Paddy is himself not at all handsome. On land he is a rather clumsy looking fellow and really homely. So he admired Lightfoot greatly. That is one reason why he proposed that they be partners.

Lightfoot himself thought the idea a splendid one. He spent that night browsing not far from Paddy's pond. With the coming of daylight he lay down under some thick growing hemlock trees near the upper end of Paddy's pond. It was a quiet, peaceful day. It was so quiet and peaceful and beautiful that it was hard to believe that hunters with terrible guns were searching the Green Forest for beautiful Lightfoot. But they were, and Lightfoot knew that sooner or later one of them would be sure to visit Paddy's pond. So, though he rested and took short naps all through that beautiful day, he was anxious. He couldn't help but be.

The next morning found Lightfoot back in the same place. But this morning he took no naps. He rested, but all the time he was watchful and alert. A feeling of uneasiness possessed him. He felt in his bones that danger in the shape of a hunter with a terrible gun was not far distant.

But the hours slipped away and little by little he grew less uneasy. He began to hope that that day would prove as peaceful as the previous day had been. Then suddenly there was a sharp report from the farther end of Paddy's pond. It was almost like a pistol shot. However, it wasn't a pistol shot. It wasn't a shot at all. It was the slap of Paddy's broad tail on the surface of the water. Instantly Lightfoot was on his feet. He knew just what that meant. He knew that Paddy had seen or heard or smelled a hunter.

It was even so. Paddy had heard a dry stick snap. It was a very tiny snap but it was enough to warn Paddy. With only his head above the water he had watched in the direction from which that sound had come. Presently, stealing quietly along towards the pond, a hunter had come in view. Instantly Paddy had brought his broad tail down on the water with all his force. He knew that Lightfoot would know that that meant danger. Then Paddy had dived, and swimming under water, had sought the safety of his house. He had done his part and there was nothing more he could do.

Do YOU Know—

That the Constitution, the most famous vessel in the history of the United States navy, earned her popular nickname, "Old Ironsides," from the hardness of her planking and timbers? Built at Boston and launched October 21, 1797, her most famous battle was the defeat of the English frigate Guerriere, August 19, 1812.

DAVID

By ANNE CAMPBELL

HE WAS a happy boy who did not know
One hour of disillusionment and strife.
All unacquainted with our deepest woe,
The bluest skies hung over his young life.
For him there were no tears, but only joy.
He never will be called upon to share
The bitter loss that robbed us of our boy,
And gave us such a troubled load to bear.

Youth's mirror was untarnished; he who gazed
With such clear eyes to futures bright with bliss,
Will never live to see the hopes he raised
Come tumbling 'round his head. . . . And we who miss
His boyish laughter ringing through the halls,
His happy plans, so confident and gay,
Approach more eagerly the crystal walls
Of heaven, where we all will meet some day.

Dear boy, whose spirit lingers in the rooms
Where you lived joyfully for fifteen years,
Forgive us if we shadow your bright plumes
By giving way to grief and hopeless tears.
Only one ray of comfort shines for us,
Our day is long, and heavy is the night,
But your brave soul finds heaven glorious,
And where you are is happiness and light!

Nature's Ice Box O. K.; Keeps Food 33 Years

Nature's ice box has even the best of mechanical refrigerators skinned when it comes to food preservation. Keeping food in good condition for years is no trick at all for natural cold storage plants such as the Antarctic wastes. According to Dr. Dana Coman, physician and dietician for the Lincoln Ellsworth-Sir Hubert Wilkins expedition, food left in a shack in the South Polar region 33 years ago was found to be still edible when discovered. The long-preserved food supplies were left by a Norwegian explorer, Otto Nordenskjold, in 1902.—Washington Post.

I FEEL FINE

Mothers read this:

A CONSTIPATED child is so easily straightened out, it's a pity more mothers don't know the remedy.

A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

Doctors use liquid laxatives. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. And today, there are fully a million families that will have no other kind in the house.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, now so widely known that you can get it all ready for use at any drugstore.

QUESTION BOX

by ED WYNN, The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I have a very dear friend, a Scotchman, who has just gone back to Scotland. I happen to know that he would never spend his own money to go back, yet he has gone. How do you think he got back?

Yours truly,
TOM KATT.

Answer: Your friend most likely heard some one sing "The Blue-bells of Scotland" and it carried him back.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I know a lady who never got married and she is now 42 years old. I asked her why she hadn't married and she said: "Why should I get married as long as I have a parrot and a monkey?" What did she mean by that?

Sincerely,
ROME E. OHE.

Answer: Probably her parrot swears and her monkey chews tobacco and she figures therefore she doesn't need a husband.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
My husband was saying that he knows a man who uses "smokeless" tobacco. I've known of horseless carriages, wireless elegraphy, seedless oranges, but what in the world is "smokeless tobacco"?

Yours truly,
IMA YAPP.

Answer: Chewing tobacco.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
My father says he washes his eyes out every night before going to bed. If this is true how does he get them back in again?

Sincerely,
I. LIDD.

Answer: He probably wears glasses.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
Is it true that everything that goes up must come down?

Sincerely,
D. POSITOR.

Answer: Everything that goes up does come down excepting a bank.

MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

HOT BREADS FOR COLD DAYS

A FLAKY, tender, white and well-browned baking powder biscuit is no mean accomplishment. To be successful, such hot breads should be made quickly and baked in a hot oven.

Quick Biscuit.

Sift two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt, and when well blended add one-fourth cup of cooking oil and three-fourths of a cup of milk. Mix into a soft dough and pat out on a floured board. Cut into rounds and bake 12 minutes in a hot oven.

Orange Muffins.

Sift one cup of flour with three teaspoons of baking powder and three-fourths of a teaspoon of salt, add one-fourth of a cup of sugar, one cup of graham flour and one cup of sliced orange peel. Beat one egg, add one cup of milk and one-fourth cup of vegetable or cooking oil. Beat until smooth, fill well oiled tins with the mixture and bake 20 to 30 minutes, according to the size of the muffins.

Coconut Corn Bread.

Take one cup each of flour, corn meal and milk, four teaspoons of baking powder, two teaspoons of salt, three tablespoons of sirup, one beaten egg, one-half cup of shredded coconut and two tablespoons of shortening. Mix as usual and bake in a shallow pan 25 minutes.

Oatmeal Bread.

Take one and one-half cups of whole wheat flour, one teaspoon of salt, five teaspoons of baking powder, one-fourth cup of brown sugar, two tablespoons of oil, one-fourth of a cupful of milk, one egg, one cup of cooked oatmeal and one-half package of dates. Mix as usual, sifting the dry ingredients together, then add the milk and beaten egg, then the oatmeal and dates; lastly add the oil and beat well. Bake in a loaf for one hour.

Hot smoked salmon sandwiches are particularly good if seasoned with horseradish and a little worcestershire sauce.

A grated potato and an apple added to sauerkraut makes it a different dish.

ANNIVERSARY OF WORLD WAR PEACE.

Next Monday is Armistice Day——celebration of the ending of the greatest tragedy in modern days. The tidings of peace swept the land with a relief that words fail to express, when on that memorable morning of November 11, 1918, the peaceful news rang out not only by message over the wire, but by the response of the ringing of bells, blowing whistles and wholesale cheering of voices. That was seventeen years ago, but the "forgotten man" is a living and loving treasure in the minds of millions.

There are good reasons for making Armistice Day a National holiday——because of its being an outstanding event with a two-fold purpose. To stress the glories of peace, and to commemorate the valor of American troops, who faced the bloody conflict amid hardship, suffering and disease. These boys are not only worthy but they will never be forgotten——the dead and the living.

Armistice Day, 1935, is celebrated amid another fateful period of war in foreign lands. It is deplorable that the lessons of seventeen years ago, cannot dominate the war spirit of today. The warfare is even more terrible than the trenches; but our boys are spared this time! They are, however, a Legion of brave soldiers, who stand ready to meet the call if made by the United States.

The American Legion is still a "fighting body," and they want political rights. The Legion stands for Democracy. As a body, it calls for active antagonism to Communism, Nazism and Facism, and for the deportation of alien agitators, alien paupers and illegal immigrants.

We shall forever owe our floral respects to the dead, the same as we express words of appreciation to those living. On this peace occasion let there be the spirit of peace throughout the land, even in the days of war and rumors of war!

Remembering that those who died will not have died in vain, if we resolve war shall never come again.

Uncle Sam has a marvelous business wrapped up in the government postal system. The bureau of engraving is about the busiest department in Washington, making postage stamps. The first letter postage was made close to a century ago, and without perforation; The clerk used a pair of shears to cut out from the sheet the number of stamps required. Stamped envelopes were authorized by Congress August 31, 1852. Prior to 1639 the postal facilities were supplied by private enterprises. It was largely through Benjamin Franklin, in 1737, while postmaster of Philadelphia that the general postal system was established in the United States, but it was in 1794 before Congress passed the first law for a complete federal postal service. In 1789 there were 75 postoffices; in 1932 the number was 48,159, besides thousands of branches and sub-stations. In the first and second class departments there are 130,000 employees and 21,500 in the railway mail service. Airmail was permanently established in 1924.

A splendid comment on the depression which is worthy of repeating, came from an eastern educator recently, when he said, "Consumer demand has not shrunk—Depression has only starved it until it is ravenous." This may sound like a joke, but there is a serious side to the assertion which bears out a vital truth. Now, that there seems to be a spark of encouragement ahead for better conditions, it seems not best to delve into the facts created by one of the worst depressions ever known in America. Let us hope, rather, that much of the uncertainty over the country is calming down, and that better days are on the way. There is great need of the optimistic spirit yet, and not be like the pessimist who may be defined as one who sees the hole instead of the doughnut.

The words of George Washington with reference to national neighborliness, uttered when he was made first president, are wise counsel and never more needed than in our present age. "Harmony, liberal intercourse with all nations, recommended by policy, humanity and interest." He also continues—"Our commercial policy should hold an equal and impartial hand, neither seeking nor granting exclusive favors or preferences; consulting the natural course of things, diffusing and diversifying by gentle means the streams of commerce, but forcing nothing." This sage of old, well knew the conditions of his day and the future generations to follow.

"Music hath charm to soothe the savage beast;" likewise the tired nerves. The trend of today is nerve-racking, and people keyed up to the modern pace will sooner or later be overcome. A strong physique in people who are ordinarily all right but whose nerves get edgy with overwork, strain and worry, might do a good deal for themselves by adopting a mild system of musical healing fitted to their needs; not too much jazz, for that is not strictly music. Good, stimulating music—the kind that soothes the savage beast— no better medicine!

A noted writer advises us to keep the faculties of effort alive in you by a little "gratuitous exercise" every day. Surely this is worth remembering, but continuous rush and hustle is not the kind of activity that he means. The automobile and well paved streets and boulevards have put millions on a high tension. Nervous noises on the busy street, dodging traffic in congested centers alone, effect people's peacefulness, which might be earned by modern and healthful exercise. The mandates of nature are not irksome, but they have become perplexing to those who disregard them.

"Competition is the life of trade," but modern competition is being overworked by a vast commercial army in the wholesale and retail world. It has gone so far as to make trade wars and deception, until the public is beginning to complain. If merchants and manufacturers could cool down and exercise a more suitable plan of reciprocity, there might be greater benefit in purse, as well as the social side. There s a lot of "cut-throat" methods being practiced that are not upljfting or elevating. The commercial future can be trusted, as soon as men come out of their distrust of one another.

DR. WEATHERILL GIVES HEALTH TALK TO FACULTY

Dr. Gloyd Weatherill of the department of health education in the city schools, spoke to the faculty at Point Loma High school this week.

He outlined the health services provided for students by the corps of twenty nurses and two doctors of the department.

Preventive medicine teaching is of course the extent of the service since students are actually treated either by their regular physicians or at the clinics.

Frequent examinations of eyes, teeth and skin diagnose difficulties early enough to permit effective treatment.

Preventive medicine should be credited with lessening of colds and spread of skin infections since mimeographed directions for treatment are available to students.

Lomans Win From Coronado 7 to 6

Getting the jump on their opponents and managing to hold the lead, the Point Loma High school football team defeated the Coronado team 7-6 last Friday on Ross field.

The Lomans made a poor showing against the Islander, and just managed to carry off the victory. The Coronado team fought a good fight all the way thru.

Point Loma's touchdown came early in the game. Coronado received the kickoff, and on the first play, attempted a pass, which Mixon, Loman center, intercepted, placing the ball on Coronado's 33 yard line. Tichenor quarter, in 3 plays, took the ball to the 1 yard line, whence Lutes, full, tallied. Tichenor, as in the Grossmont game, kicked the winning point.

The Pointers relaxed after having scored, and the Islanders gained considerably on passes and off-tackle plays. In the second quarter, the visitors scored on a 25 yard pass, Adams to Webb. The try-for-point failed.

While the rest of the game was a see-saw, Coronado held the upper hand.

BOOSTER CLUB SHOW PEP

The "Boosters Club" at Point Loma High school waded right into action at the beginning of the football season. An official rooting section was organized at their suggestion. Pep signs on blackboards and posters appear for each game. Bleacher stunts are to appear at Friday's game with Coronado. Pompoms are much in evidence at the games.

The Boosters will infuse pep into all school contests. When football is over there will be basketball and baseball. Enthusiasm and school spirit truly are felt at Point Loma this term.

$600 WORTH NEW MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS for ORCHESTRA

To show appreciation to the PTA for their generous donation making it possible to buy an oboe, the Point Loma High school Music Department dedicates the Thursday and Friday assemblies to this helpful group.

Six hundred dollars have been spent for new musical instruments for the school orchestra. The PTA gave one hundred dollars of their convention fund to the school toward the purchase. The Board of Education liberally made up the balance. Fifty dollars profit from the Rosamunde production of last spring, permitted a total outlay of six hundred dollars for necessary orchestral instruments.

District PTA heads and the ladies who sewed on the costumes of the Rosamunde production were especially invited. Mrs. G. A. Lazar graciously responded to the friendly dedication.

An excellent program followed.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY: POINT LOMA

"Mystery-Schools of the Past and of Today" will be the subject of the address at the Point Loma Theosophical Headquarters next Sunday, by Mrs. Grace Knoche, who will be assisted answering questions by Boris de Zirkoff.

"Altho the word 'mystery'," declares Mrs. Knoche, "is in common use as signifying anything that is not understood, the word has in Theosophy a technical meaning that once grasped opens many long-closed doors beyond which lie fascinating vistas of spiritual heights to be climbed. According to the teachings of H. P. Blavatsky, elaborated and greatly added to by Dr. de Purucker in his just published book, "The Esoteric Tradition", the Mystery-schools have existed on earth, either publicly known or sometimes quite unknown generally, from immemorial time: to be accurate from about the middle of the Fourth great Race, known as the Atlantean."

Mrs. Knoche says, "These schools have continued without a break from that early day to this, in not one but in many countries. The central school is located on the high tidelands of Tibet, and members of the Brotherhood are known as Masters or Mahatmans."

Interesting History Of California Counties

Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly, at the request of Governor Frank F. Merriam, has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California including a few salient facts about each county.

—Editor.

Los Angeles County—Created February 18, 1850. This is one of the original twenty-seven counties of California. The words "Los Angeles" in Spanish literally mean "the angels" and are a contraction of the original name "Pueblo del Rio de Nuestra Senora La Reina de Los Angeles de Porciuncula" ("the town of the river of Our Lady Queen of the Angels"). It will therefore be observed that Los Angeles really was named for the Virgin Mary, commonly called "Our Lady of the Angels" by Spanish. On September 7, 1781, Governor Felipe de Neve issued orders from the San Gabriel Mission for the establishment of a pueblo in El Rio Nuestra Senora de Los Angeles and under the protection of Nuestra Senora La Reina de Los Angeles (Our Lady, Queen of the Angeles), the mission by this name having dedicated three days before, having practically the same title. This pueblo in time became known as the Ciudad de Los Angeles, "the City of the Angels," and it is from this that the county derived its patronymic.

This county has almost half the population of California. Its growth in the last decade has been one of the wonders of America. It is nearly four times the size of Rhode Island. In 1910, the population was 504,131, or 124 per square mile. The 1930 census revealed a populaton of 2,208,492, or 536 per square mile. Los Angeles is the greatest agricultural county in the state and the 1920 federal census ranked it first among all the counties in the nation.

Los Angeles harbor was built at a cost of many millions, $10,000,000 of which was contributed by the national government. It is the world's leading oil exporting and lumber importing port. The county, due to its vast oil and natural gas production, ranks first in mineral production. Nearly every commercial product known to California is produced on its 12,653 farms. Citrus fruits head the list of these products.

The county's motion picture industry stands as a gigantic structure spoken of only in terms of millions of dollars. The greatest electric interurban system in the world is here with over 1200 miles of tracks serving fifty-four incorporated cities in four counties and transporting annually 125,000,000 passengers. Population: 2,208,242. Area: 4115 square miles.

Madera County—Created March 11, 1893. "Madera" in Spanish signifies "timber", and the county got its name from the town of Madera, situated within its limits, which town originally was surrounded by groves of trees.

Fertile plains and valleys, rich foothills carpeted by vast streches of orchards, a wealth of mineral deposits and scenic mountain regions with dense forests of pine and fir are Nature's gifts to Madera. Within the county lies a part of Yosemite National Park and a large portion of the Sierra National Forest. In northeastern Madera is one of California's national monuments, a strange formation of rock called the Devil's Postpile composed of tall posts of hard rock, six-sided and fitting closely together, resembling the Giant's Causeway in Ireland.

An attraction to motorists is the Madera-Mariposa Big Tree Route known as "Discovery Road," traversing much of the territory over which Major Savage and the Mariposa battalion in early days, chased a band of marauding Indians who had hiding places in unknown canyons in the higher mountains. While on the heels of a fleeing band of redskins Major Savage and his men reached the rim of the "Valley of Valleys." Ahead was such a gorgeous view that they reined in their horses, forgetting the objects of their chase, and gazed with startled wonder. They had discovered Yosemite.

Madera soils are those of the rich San Joaquin Valley and the county's agricultural products cover a wide range. Population: 17,164. Area: 2112 square miles.

Marin County—Created February 18, 1850. One of the original twenty-seven counties of the state, it derived its name from Chief Marin, of the Licatiut tribe of Indians. In 1815, a military expendition of the Spanish proceeded to explore the country north of the bay of San Francisco. This action aroused the ire of the Licaitut tribe and a desperate engagement was fought in the valley now known as Petaluma Valley. Chief Marin led the forces of the Indians with wonderful strategy and bravery. At the same time, his sub-chief Quentin gave battle to a second division of the Spanish army at the point which still bears his name, Punta de la Quentin. In 1824 the chief was captured, but escaped, locating on a small island in San Francisco bay. Later he again was captured and sentenced to death. Priests of San Rafael Mission saved him and converted him to their faith. He died in the mission in 1834.

This county, known as "Marvelous Marin," is a lovely portion of the Redwood Empire and one of the most picturesque counties in California. With its woods and hills, gardens and trees, surrounded on three sides by the Pacific ocean and San Francisco and San Pablo bays, Marin is a land of beautiful homes. Almost in its center stands Mount Tamalpais at the base of which are the world famous Muir Woods, named in honor of John Muir, the naturalist. In this great grove of redwoods are trees ranging in age from 500 to 3000 years. The tribe naming Mount Tamalpais is a matter of controversy. Some insist it was the Lacatuits, while the Smithsonian Institute has given its choice to the name "Hookoekos". Some believe the name came from the Nicasio tribe, but whatever the tribal name, it generally is conceded that the Indians called their land "Tamal"—the word from which is derived Mount Tamalpaes Bay.

In 1579, Sir Frances Drake entered the harbor now known as Drake's Bay, visible from Tamalpais, where he made repairs to his Ye Golden Hinde and obtained provisions.

Marin is one of the counties leading in the production of farm and dairy products. General farming and cultivation of orchards are carried on although the agricultural area is limited. Population 41,648. Area: 529 square miles.

METHODIST CHURCH

"Christ's Alternative to War" is the subject for the sermon next Sunday morning by the Rev. J. H. Hughes at the Methodist church. The service will be in keeping with Armistice day. The choir, under the direction of Lynn Winans will sing two of the marshal old hymns: "God of Our Fathers," and the "Crusaders" hymn. William Ablett of San Diego will sing a tenor solo. This service begins at 11 o'clock.

The Sunday school under the leadership of H. I. Bingham begins at 9:45. Classes are conducted for all age groups.

The Epworth League in the evening at 7 o'clock conducted by Leola Mauer for young people. A fellowship hour will follow. Mrs. Hughes will be hostess.

Lutheran Mission

"Belief and Unbelief" will be the subject of the sermon at the 10:45 o'clock service. Can you distinguish between belief and unbelief? What are you—a believer or unbeliever? In whom do you believe? Whom should we believe? Is belief necessary? These are questions which should concern all in these last days.

The Sunday school lesson will be, "Moses and The Burning Bush." That God called Moses to deliver His people Israel, will be the central idea brought out in all departments.

A most cordial welcome is extended all Lutherans and the general public to attend these services held at the Woman's club house, Newport and Abbott.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? who shall dwell in thy holy hill? He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart."

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon are the words of Paul to the Corinthians: "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "The human mind will sometime rise above all material and physical sense, exchanging it for spiritual perception, and exchanging human concepts for the divine consciousness. Then man will recognize his God-given dominion and being."

THE STATE CONVENTION OF THE W. C. T. U.

The State convention of the W.C.T.U. held at Riverside, Oct. 22-25, was opened at the Mission Inn with an attendance of 400. The first days registration was over 900, and totaled over 1400 during the four days. The national president, Dr. Ida B. Wise Smith, addressed the convention, her theme was: All before us lies the way. The general theme of the sessions was a tree, as represented by the first Psalm.

Many vital facts were brought to our attention. In July, in our nation, there was one person killed every 17 minutes by drunken drivers. Medical authorities tell us that 83 percent of all cancers are caused by beer and alchohol.

There are 7000 known bootleggers in California now, and 12000 more are known to be in operation. More money is spent to fight them than ever before in spite of promise that repeal would put them out of business.

In 1934 the brewers convention pledged $50,000,000 for advertizing. In 1935 they raised the amount to $60,000,000.

Repeal was not brought back because men wanted to drink, but because some men wanted to sell it.

Prosperity may be too costly. We have 5500 criminals in California penitentiaries now.

Money paid for liquor would have paid for all doles the Gov't. has paid.

Never-the-less there are many hopeful signs to cheer. High school and college students are taking a decided stand against hip-pocket flasks and drinking. Many of our prominent judges are imposing more stringent sentences and fewer suspensions of fines. Better methods of teaching the evils of alchohol are coming into use, and public opinion is surely awaking to the fact that repeal has failed.

Gov. Meerriam, Judge Benjaman Bledsoe and Dr. Frederick Lindsly of Occidental college, were among the number of speakers on the program.

POULTRY HELPS.

By E. E. Steele.

During the previous discussion the nutrients have been considered as pure and well-defined substances, which can be accurately identified by chemical or biological examination.

This was to explain clearly their individual characteristics and behavior.

In practical feeding, however, it is not the seperate nutrients which are dealt with, but feed-stuffs which are a mixture of them, and they are not present in pure form, but as crude proteins, crude fat, ash and crude fiber.

Because of the experimental difficulties, work with chickens has been carried out only on a very limited scale.

I could give you a long list of digestibility coefficients for the different nutrients of common feed-stuff for poultry but they would only be average figures of all the tests carried on by each person and they all differ slightly.

No complete fundamental information being available, poultry feeding has to be based on practical experience, and knowledge of the compostion of the feeds.

I have experimented with feed-stuffs keeping in mind, feed units, and following an average of all the digestibility coefficients I have been able to get together.

In the previous discussion I recomend, barley and buttermilk for morning feed.

Barley is favorable in price, at the some time it is an excellent feed for poultry having 67 feed units to the 100 pounds and from 7 to 10 percent crude protein, 1 to 3 percent crude fat and 6 to 7 percent crude fiber.

Buttermilk analysis is, protein (milk albumen and casein) 10 per cent, fat (pure butter fat) 2 percent, lactic acid .4 percent, ash (mostly calcium) 3.8 percent.

Buttermilk has high protein content, also contains calcium which is needed for bone, for egg shells, in the blood as a necessary factor in coagulation, also in the white and yolk of the egg. Milk contains vitamin B. I will not recommend any brand of laying mash, I will just repeat, cheap mashes contain more filler and crude fiber.

Barley and buttermilk and ground feed stuffs are digested in about two hours.

I recommend a full crop of yellow corn for evening feed because it has 79 feed units to the 100 pounds, it contains vitamin A and takes 8 to 10 hours for complete digestion.

I recommend plenty of fresh green feed because they contain vitamin A, B and E. Good mashes contain vitamin D in fish oils, also A, B and E.

Be sure to keep grit where the birds will have access to it at all times.

Five or six pounds of fresh greens to 100 birds each day is plenty if you feed a mash that contains alfalfa-leaf meal, but the greens must be green in color, bleached-out products which have lost their green color do not contain vitamin A.

In regard to mash feeds, considering the wide variation in biological value and digestibility of the various feed proteins, you cannot depend on the exact crude protein analysis; a poor feed may show a considerably higher protein content than a good feed, for instance oats, crude protein 9 percent; digestibility or feed units 59.4 percent. yellow corn, crude protein 7.5 percent; digestability or feed units 79 percent.

Wheat bran, crude protein 10.1 percent, digestibility or feed units 44.8 percent.

The protein content of a feed mash can be raised with wheat bran and oats but the feed units are lowered, a large amount of wheat bran in the mash with a small amount of protein concentrates, such as fish scrap from 55 to 65 percent crude protein, would give a high crude protein content but would not be high in feed units therefore would be a poor feed at any price.

Total feed consumption of a bird per year will be from 70 to 100 pounds, varying with the breeds, digestability or feed units per hundred and the egg production.

If you use feed stuffs low in digestability or feed units, you will lower your feed cost some, but you will also lower your prduction for your hen as an egg producing machine is only able to handle a given amount of raw material, if the raw material contains a lot of waste in undigestable protein and crude fiber the finished product will be less.

Navajo Brave May Be Wed to Several Sisters

It is not unusual for a Navajo brave to be married to several sisters of the same family at the same time, according to Wick Miller, an authority on Indian arts and customs.

"That state of affairs is not objectionable to the Navajos," he said. "But they are extremely careful not to marry within their own clan. All in all, I would say their standards are higher than ours, and I believe they live up to their ideals as a whole," better than white people. As the Navajos lead a wandering existence, their dwellings are temporary shelters. Wherever the Navajo is, he must be busy. Everybody has plenty to do. And everybody is happy.

SYNOPSIS

The youthful and comely "Widder" Marcia Howe has as her guest her late husband's niece, Sylvia Hayden. A stranger, on the verge of exhaustion, finds his way to Marcia's home. Secretly, he asks her to hide a package containing jewelry. She does so. Elisha Winslow, town sheriff, brings news of a jewel robbery nearby. The stranger gives his name as Stanley Heath. Sylvia discovers the jewels, and naturally believes Heath is a robber. She realizes that Marcia must have hidden them, and decides to say nothing. Marcia feels she has altogether too deep an interest in her guest, but is powerless to overcome it. Heath wires "Mrs. S. C. Heath," New York, saying he is safe. He also orders a man named Currier to come at once. Sylvia, in her room, bedecks herself with the jewels. At Marcia's approach she hides them there. Heath asks Marcia to bring them to him. They are gone! He kindly makes light of the loss. Sylvia restores the jewels to their original hiding place. Elisha Winslow, visiting Marcia, discovers the gems and has no doubt they are the stolen gems, and that Heath is the thief. Leaving the jewels, he makes plans for arresting Heath.

Dawn was breaking over Wilton when a trim motor car, bearing a New York number plate, slipped quietly into the village and drew up at the town garage.

From it stepped a man, small and somewhat bent. "May I leave my car here?" he inquired of the lad who was sweeping out the building.

"Sure!"

"Fill her up for me, please. And you might clean her a bit."

"Been riding all night?"

The stranger nodded.

"I like traveling at night," he volunteered. "Less traffic. Can you tell me where a Mr. Heath is staying?"

"Heath? The chap who ran aground on the Crocker Cove sand bar? He's over to The Widder's."

"Where's that?"

"The Widder lives out yonder at the Homestead."

"How does one get there?"

"Wal, the only way to reach the house when the tide's full, as 'tis now, is to row."

"Where'll I find a boat?"

"That I couldn't say. The Widder keeps hers t'other side of the channel. Mebbe, though, if you was to go down to the beach some fisherman would give you a lift across. 'Most any of 'em would admire to if you're a friend of Marcia Howe's."

The stranger bowed but offered no comment. If curiosity stirred within him concerning the information the lad vouchsafed, at least he gave no sign.

"Thank you," he replied briefly. "Will this road take me to the beach?"

"Straight as an arrow."

Without wasting additional words or time, the stranger nodded and started off briskly in the direction indicated. When he reached the beach he halted, scanning eagerly the silvered house beyond the channel. Discovering no one in sight, he dragged from the shore a yellow dory, clambered into it, and catching up the oars began to row toward the dwelling silhouetted against the water and the glory of the morning sky.

* * * * * * * *

In the meantime, both Marcia and Sylvia had wakened early and were astir.

The kitchen fire was already snapping merrily in the stove, however, and the table was spread before the latter made her appearance.

She came in, carrying a thick envelope.

"Why, Sylvia, how you startled me!" Marcia exclaimed. "I did not hear you come down stairs. Why are you up so early?"

"I'm going to town to catch the morning mail. I have to get off this letter."

"Have to?"

"Yes—to Hortie. You see, if I didn't answer promptly he might think the candy had gone astray," explained the girl.

"Oh, of course, you must thank him for the candy," Marcia agreed. "Still, is it necessary to do so in such a rush—to walk to the village this morning?"

"I mean to row over."

"I'm afraid you can't, dear. I discovered last night the boat was gone. Eleazer Crocker must have appropriated it when he was here yesterday. I shall give him a good lecture when I see him. It is a serious thing to be left out here with no way of getting to land. In fact, here we are with this tremendously important letter that must be posted immediately—willy-nilly."

With eyes brimming with laughter, Marcia shot a mischievous glance at her companion.

"But it is only the last of April, beloved."

"Men need to know such things well in advance. They have to adjust their business."

"I see," smiled Marcia. "Under such conditions, I suppose the sooner the letter is sent the better."

"It isn't just to thank Hortie for the candy that I'm writing," that young lady replied sedately. "You see, he asked if he might come to Wilton for his summer vacation. He has to know so he can make his plans."

"The sooner I start, the sooner I shall be back, I suppose," Sylvia answered with feigned reluctance. "Men are so unreasonable. Any errands?"

"Not today, thanks. Just the mail."

"I'll wait for it."

The eagerness betrayed by the reply left not the slightest doubt that Sylvia would wait, and gladly.

As the door closed behind her, Marcia smiled whimsically.

She prepared Heath's breakfast tray, and was about to take it upstairs when there was a gentle knock at the kitchen door.

A stranger stood upon the threshold.

"Is Mr. Stanley Heath staying here?" inquired he.

"Yes."

"I am Currier. Mr. Heath sent for me."

"Of course! Come in, won't you? Mr. Heath is expecting you. I'll tell him you are here."

"You needn't do that, madam. If you will just show me where he is—"

"At the head of the stairs."

"Very good. Thank you, madam. I will go up."

Marcia soon heard the invalid's voice, imperative and eager, each sentence ending with an interrogation. The lapses of silence which intervened and which at first she took to be pauses, she presently decided represented the inaudible and subdued replies of Currier.

To judge from the sounds, Heath was pouring out an avalanche of questions. Once he broke into peals of hearty laughter, followed by a paroxysm of coughing.

"He has forgotten all about breakfast," murmured Marcia. "I'll carry it up."

She mounted the stairs softly that her coming might break in as little as possible upon the conversation of her two guests.

"She was alone in the library when I went in," Heath was saying, "and turned so white I feared she might faint or scream. Luckily she did neither.

"'You know what I'm after,' I said—'the jewels. Come, hand them over.' At that, she began to cry.

"'Quickly,' I repeated. 'Someone may come.'

"With that, she produced the jewel case, pouring out a torrent of explanations.

"I stopped no longer than I had to, I assure you. In no time I had made my getaway. Every detail of my plan would have gone smoothly but for the fog. I lost my bearings completely. Imagine my amazement at finding myself here."

Marcia waited to hear no more.

So Heath really had taken the jewels from the resisting woman who owned them—taken them against her will and made off with them!

He owned it!

Nay, more! Far from regretting what he had done, in his tone rang a note of satisfaction in his accomplishment.

She had never believed him guilty. Not until she heard the bitter, irrevocable confession from his own lips did she waver, and even then she battled against the truth, refusing to be convinced. There must be some explanation, she told herself. Nevertheless, the shock was overwhelming.

Her head swam. Her heart beat wildly.

"I must not give way!" she reiterated to herself. "I must put on a brave front. He must not suspect I know."

It took a few moments for her to regain her grip on herself, to drag back her ebbing strength.

Then she knocked at the door.

"Here is your coffee, Mr. Heath," she called.

"Come in, Mrs. Howe. I'm afraid we've delayed you. I had entirely forgotten about breakfast and so, I'll be bound, had Currier. You met my right-hand man down stairs, I take it."

"You found the house without trouble?" Marcia inquired, making an effort to address the newcomer in a natural, off-hand manner.

"Yes, Mrs. Howe. A young man at the garage directed me."

As Marcia turned to go, her unfailing courtesy prompted her to say:

"Mr. Currier is welcome to stay if he wishes to, Mr. Heath. We can put him up perfectly well."

"Oh, no. He is returning directly. Nevertheless, I greatly appreciate your kindness."

"Mrs. Heath is anxious," put in Currier. "She begged me to come home as soon as possible that she might know how Mr. Heath was. Naturally she has been much worried."

"There, there, Currier—that will do," broke in Stanley Heath, flushing. "And now, since Mrs. Howe is here and is in our secret, I may as well tell you that part of the mission on which you came cannot be accomplished. You cannot take the gems back with you to New York. A calamity has befallen them."

"A calamity, sir?"

"Mrs. Howe helped me conceal the jewels downstairs in a hiding place under the kitchen floor," continued Stanley Heath. "When she went to get them they were gone."

"It is all very mysterious," broke in Marcia, taking up the tale. "I cannot in any way account for their disappearance and am much distressed."

"Have you any theory as to who could have taken them?" inquired Currier.

"Absolutely none. I cannot even see how anybody had the chance to take them. No one knew they were there."

"Would you be willing to show me where they were hidden and allow me to investigate?"

"Certainly. I'll take you downstairs now, while we have the opportunity. When do you start back?"

"That is for Mr. Heath to decide."

"Right off. As soon as you can get under way," Stanley Heath said decisively. "Go down now with Mrs. Howe, since she is so gracious, and have your breakfast. Examine, too, the place where we concealed the jewel case. You may discover a clew she has missed."

Preceding Currier into the kitchen, Marcia went straight to the hearth and pointed to the brick at her feet.

Marcia Could Not Believe Her Eyes.

"It was here we put the jewel case," she said.

"I think, with your permission, I will take up the brick," the little man at her elbow quietly announced.

"Certainly," acquiesced Marcia.

Taking out his knife, Currier knelt and soon had the brick out of its hole.

Beneath it lay the jewel case, wrapped as before in Stanley Heath's monogrammed handkerchief.

Marcia could not believe her eyes.

"But—but—it wasn't there when I looked. I could swear it wasn't."

"Who could have taken it out? And if some one did why return anything so valuable?" Currier inquired.

"I don't know. I do not understand it at all," the woman replied. "There is something uncanny about the whole affair."

"Well, at any rate, the gems are here now," said Currier in a matter-of-fact tone. "Mr. Heath will be much relieved. Shall I go up and—"

"I'll go," Marcia cried. "It won't take me a minute. I'll be right back."

"As you prefer, madam."

Off flew Marcia.

Her haste, the radiance of her face must have suggested to the stranger a thought that had not occurred to him before, for after she had gone, he stood immovable in the middle of the floor looking after her.

Then a slow, shadowy smile passed across his features.

"So—ho!" he muttered. "So—ho!"

He was still absorbed in reverie when Marcia, breathless and flushed, rejoined him.

"I can think of nothing but the jewels and their recovery. I am so happy I had completely forgotten your breakfast. You might run up to see Mr. Heath while I am getting it ready."

"I will do that. I shall be leaving at once and he may have final orders for me, or perhaps a letter for Mrs. Heath."

"Mrs. Heath!" Marcia repeated, as if the name suddenly brought before her consciousness something hitherto forgotten. "Yes, yes! Of course."

Then turning her head aside, she inquired with studied carelessness:

"How long, I wonder, does Mr. Heath plan to remain in Wilton? I think that as soon as he is able to make the journey he would better go home. This climate is—is—damp and he will, perhaps, pick up faster away from the sea. If you have any influence with him, won't you please advise it?"

The man's small, gray eyes narrowed.

"I have no influence with Mr. Heath," replied he. "Mrs. Heath has, however. Shall I tell her?"

"I wish you would."

* * * * * * * * *

An hour later My Unknown Lady weighed anchor and disappeared out to sea, carrying with her Currier and the jewels.

Marcia watched until the last snowy ripple foaming in her wake had disappeared, then she sank into a chair and brushed her hand across her eyes.

"And that's the end of that foolishness!" she muttered. "The end!"

Rodents and Civilization

Small wild animals have found civilization a distinct advantage, says Pathfinder Magazine. In primitive regions the numbers of such animals as ground squirrels, gophers, prairie dogs and the like are largely determined by the available food supply and the extent to which they are the prey of larger animals. As farmers settled the West the larger animals were driven off and crops were planted lessening dangers and increasing the food supply of the small rodent. As a result they multiplied quickly and now it is necessary to trap and poison the rodent pests in order to effectively control their numbers.

FASCINATING TALES OF LOST MINES

©W.N.U. By Editha L. Watson

PILLARS OF GOLD

When the Spanish conquerors were following the northward windings of the Rio Grande, they went as far as the northern part of what is now New Mexico. Here, Spanish legend relates, some of the padres, with soldiers at their command, turned to the westward. In the midst of some extremely rough mountains they came across a small valley, and here they saw two great pillars made of large stones.

What these pillars were they did not know, but with the curiosity to which we owe so much of our information about the early southwest, the padres halted to examine these monuments. To their surprise and delight, they found that some of the stones were pieces of rich gold ore, which argued that their source must be somewhere in the vicinity.

So it proved; the lode was rich beyond all dreams, and the party immediately set to work, the soldiers laying down their arms to become miners. They remained in the hidden valley long enough to take out all the gold they could carry with them.

After this time, others who passed that way hunting wealth saw the lonely pillars in the center of the valley, but for a long time no one thought to examine them, and consequently passed on without knowing that their opportunity lay near by, and that a few hours searching might disclose that mine that the padres saw.

At last an old miner by the name of Mike O'Leary, rambling about through this region on a prospecting trip, found the ancient workings, and appeared in Parrot City some time later with enough ore to finance an expensive spree for several weeks. After sobering up he disappeared, only to come into Animas City several months later with more ore.

The old prospector of the western mountains was a wily creature. He preferred hunting alone or with one partner, and if he did strike gold he could be "as mum as a clam" about its location, even though he loved to boast about his good fortune. Knowing the hills as he did the streets of his home town, he usually eluded all those who tried to follow him. He knew only too well that the discovery of his mine would mean a lot of unpleasant neighbors, the theft of his ore, and possibly death to himself. The silence of the old prospectors on the subject of their finds is one of the large factors in the losing of mines.

O'Leary was just such a man. He might show up every now and then with enough gold to pay for a celebration, but he always drifted out of sight before anyone could see where he went. Finally he disappeared for good—nothing more was seen of him, and it is supposed that either he went to some distant city to spend his money, or else the mountains claimed him for the final sacrifice.

With O'Leary's passing, however, the secret of his mine did not remain a secret. Once in a while some miner comes to the front with ore which he claims came from that little valley in the mountains, and there are even said to be maps, made by others who came into sight of the two rock pillars. However, as far as anyone knows, the location of the mine has never been filed as a claim.

SECRET OF THE PRAIRIE

Council of war!

A party of freighters camped under an old lightning-killed cottonwood, talking earnestly. The year was 1856; the place was Kearney county, Kansas, on the Santa Fe trail. There was $70,000 in Spanish gold in that wagon train, being carried from Mexico to Fort Leavenworth. Would it ever reach its destination?

Indians had begun to follow the wagons in New Mexico. They hung on, making no move to attack, but drawing a little closer day by day. Now, as the freighters consulted with each other around the campfire, the Indians lurked out yonder in the darkness, waiting—waiting—

It was decided to bury the gold. Here, where the great dead tree formed a landmark on the trail, was as good a place as any, and there was no time to lose. There was no telling when the Indians might make up their minds to attack.

It was midnight. The full moon shone brightly on the camp and on the cottonwood, and cast a shadow along the ground. Here, where the shadow fell, they buried the Spanish gold.

Next day they moved on. The Indians followed as usual, drawing a little closer. Three days later they attacked, when the train had reached Pawnee Rock. Only one man survived; he reached Fort Leavenworth, told his story, and died.

There was no chance, just then, to send out after the gold. It was safe; it must wait until the opportunity presented. And so a year passed before a party set out on the Santa Fe trail to recover the hidden coin.

But during that year lightning had struck the old cottonwood again, and this time had destroyed it completely. There was nothing left to show where it stood. Ony the tall buffalo grass rippled in the wind—grass which had grown closely over all the countryside.

LET JUNIOR MAKE OWN SIMPLE FROCK

PATTERN 9606

Lives there a Junior Miss who couldn't "fall" for this smart yet simple school frock? We just know she will want to make her first fall frock from this pattern, because it's so very easy to cut, assemble and stitch, and if Mother is too busy to supervise the operation, take the pattern and some pretty cotton to sewing class and work on it there. The youthful, square neck adopts a scarf-like collar to slip under its tab, the puffed sleeves have a hearty slash. Action pleats grace back bodice and skirt, a box pleat, the side front skirt.

Pattern 9606 may be ordered only in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 12 requires 2⅝ yards 36 inch fabric and ⅜ yard contrasting. Complete diagrammed sew chart included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 232 West Eighteenth St., New York, N. Y.

Not Nine, but 50,000 Planets, Says Scientist

The solar system, of which the earth is a part, probably contains not 9 but 50,000 planets, it has been estimated by Prof. Armin O. Leuschner, of the University of California. In addition to the well known ones, Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto, a swarm of lesser objects have orbits around the sun, most of them in the region between Mars and Jupiter. Nearly 1,300 of the small bodies, or asteroids, have been located since the beginning of the last century, on the first night of which the Italian astronomer Guiseppe Piazzi sighted the first, Ceres.—Literary Digest.

WELL QUALIFIED

A bulky, bearded man came unannounced into the office of the gentle scholar who is headmaster of one of the best preparatory schools in Massachusetts. He lost no time in formalities, but announced, in a deep, terrifying voice, "I wish to teach in your school. I am a Rooshan, but I am interested in all literatures—Rooshan, and Spaneesh, and French, and Engleesh." He paused impressively and tapped the stupefied Head on the knee. "And," he added, "I can chin myself with one arm."—New Yorker.

ALL-RUBBER GLIDER

Soviet Russia claims an all-rubber glider, with all normal features of ordinary gliders, as its latest contribution to aviation. The framework is made of soft collapsible rubberized cloth tubes and the entire plane is covered with the same airtight material. It weighs only 45 pounds and must be blown up with air. When deflated it may be folded compactly into an ordinary suitcase and can easily be carried to a convenient elevation suitable for taking off.

'Countess Maritza' Now Playing in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Oct. 31—"Countess Maritza", the great musical success by Emmerich Kalmen, will open on Monday night, November 4, at the Shrine Civic Auditorium in Los Angeles for a week's engagement, following the current attraction, starring Nanette Guilford and Robert Shafer, "The Student Prince", which closes this coming Sunday night.

The star of the coming Romantic production will be Peggy Wood, who has starred with the famous actor, John Drew, and who has created the original roles in such outstanding successes as "Naughty Marietta", "Bitter Sweet" in the London premiere, George Bernard Shaw's "Candida", "Matime" and co-starred with Francis Lederer in the London opening of "The Cat and the Fiddle".

"Countess Maritza" will be the fourth of the musical shows being presented by J. J. Shubert at the Shrine, and will be one of the most brilliant of the 12 productions in the Shubert Festival of operetta and musical comedies. It contains many of the most beautiful and best loved songs in all musical literature, among which are "Play Gypsies", "Golden Dreams", "The One I'm Looking For", and "The Music Thrills Me".

The score is by Emmerich Kalman, the brilliant Viennese composer, who, in the music of "Countess Maritza", turned out the greatest work of his highly successful career. In addition to the single songs to be sung by Miss Wood and Paul Gregory, who plays opposite her, the score abounds in lively orchestral music, all of which has the zest and flair of gypsy life.

There is intrigueing charm in the romantic story of the high-born countess who invents a fictitious fiance to avoid the importunate suitors who seek to share her wealth and position. She loses her heart to the overseer, a commoner but does not discover the fact until a fascinating and beautiful gypsy fiddler girl threatens to win him from her. There are serious complications when a very real personage with the name the countess has invented for her fiance appears to claim her hand. Ultimately, the gypsy breaks her fiddle, the overseer is discovered a nobleman in his own right, and there is a promise of wedding bells as the curtain falls.

Gregory, who scored a tremendous hit in the previous Shubert festival production, "Rose Marie", plays the overseer. His voice is one of the outstanding on the musical stage today.

Supporting Miss Wood and Gregory will be Paul Keast, Hope Emerson, Barnett Parker, Jack Good, Harry K. Morton and many other of the actors and actressess who have made continuous successes in opercta and musical comedy. The entire cast of leads, principals and choruses will contain more than 200 persons.

Performances are given nightly at 8:30, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 2:30. Tickets may be ordered by mail or be secured at the Shrine auditorium, the Southern California Music company ticket offices or at Mitchell ticket offices.
